CROUSE-JONES.

The marriage of Miss Lois Crouse, daughter of Elder and Mrs. W. H. Crouse, and Thomas J. Jones, of Miami, Fla., was a beautiful event, taking place at the Pricative Baptist church Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The impressive ceremony was performed by the bride's father, who is pastor of the church.

The church was beautiful in its decorations of green and white. The double arches above the pulpit were entwined with southern smilax with roses at intervals. Festive ferns were banded in front, forming a pretty background for the wedding scene. Leading to the altar was a white gate the posts of which supported the arch. This also was entwined with roses and vines.

Just preceding the ceremony Mrs. Roger Holland sang, "O, Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. W. O. Denmark at the piano.

During the ceremony "Believe Me, All Those Endearing Young Charms" was softly played.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. W. O. Denmark, accompanied by Mrs. Bruce Akins on the violin, the bride party advanced. First were the ushers, Floyd Akins, Virgil Donaldson, Clifford Saturday, Herman Bland and W. O. Denmark. They were met at the altar by Elder Crouse, who entered from the rear.

Little Mary Crouse, sister of the bride, and little Miss Audrey Trapnell opened the gate. Little Miss Crouse wore an airy frock of blue and white and little Miss Trapnell's was pink and white.

Miss Julia Trapnell of Metter was maid of honor. She wore a gown of light green with hat to match.

Little Dorothy Hodges, wearing a dainty dress of blue, was flower girl and preceded the bride, who entered with her mother, to meet the groom and his best man, Daley Crouse, at the altar.

The bride was lovely in a gown of flesh georgette with iridescent trimmings. She wore a picture hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Crouse wore a pretty dress of gray with hat to match. Her corsage was Killarney roses.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home on Church street, this being a double event, as it was the silver wedding anniversary of her parents.

The bride and groom of twenty-five years ago and the bride and groom of the evening, entered the reception room, where Rev. J. M. Foster, pastor of the Methodist church, spoke words of congratulations and good wishes, after which Rev. W. T. Granade, pastor of the Baptist church, pronounced the bridal benediction.

The decorations of the home, like those of the church, were of green and white.

Upon entering the dining room delicious lunch cream with wedding bell design, and cake were served by Misses Myrtice Bowen, Sarah Smith, Anna Mae Cumming and Eunice Brown. Misses Martha Crouse and Marguerite Call presented at the punch bowl which was placed at the entrance to the gift room.

During the evening Misses Johnnie and Thelma Barnes and Harold Baumrind furnished delightful music on the piano and with stringed instruments.

Mrs. J. G. Moore and Mrs. Leffer DeLoach honored their guests, Mrs. Lem Nevils of Metter and Mrs. Ghas. Nevils of Daytona Beach, Fla., with a bridge and rook party Friday at the home of Mrs. DeLoach on South Main street. In the morning guests were invited for thirteen tables and in the afternoon fifteen tables of players were present. Ferns and pink roses were used in decorating the room where the games were played. Bonbon dishes furnished as full-blown roses were placed at each table. Assisting the hostesses in serving a pretty salad were Mrs. Basil Jones and Mrs. C. B. Mathews.

Mrs. Tinley has just returned from New York where she spent two weeks making purchases of spring dresses and coats for TITZ VANITY BOX. She invites her friends to come to see the prettiest line of seasonable garments the markets afford.

MISSIONARY SOCIAL.

Monday afternoon the ladies of the Methodist missionary society met at the home of Mrs. Frost T. Lanier on Zettoway avenue. Red roses and pot plants were lavishly used in decorating the pretty home. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Miss Mattie Lively, after which the program committee took charge.

Much merriment was caused by the snappy program. Different letters of the alphabet, some red and others black, were given out. Those with red letters lined up on one side of the room and those with black on the other. Eleven women were called out and the side spelling the greatest number of words first were allowed the privilege of taking the opposing side to do different stunts. Miss Mattie Lively being a loser was requested to sing "Old Black Joe." Miss Sadie Lee performed with much grace. Mrs. Jesse Johnston was required to be still without smiling a short while, a thing next to impossible. Mrs. C. P. Oliff was to select the best looking lady present and promenade, the honor falling upon Mrs. Joe Rackley. Others were given similar stunts. At the roll call verses were given from the Bible pertaining to work or the work of their husbands. Those unable to respond were asked to give one dollar to the society. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. W. H. Sharpe sang "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star," accompanied by Mrs. S. Edwin Groover at the piano. A dainty salad course was served by the hostesses, who comprised the ladies of Savannah avenue. Artificial sweet peas were the favors. Miss Inez Williams was appointed delegate to the South Georgia Missionary conference to meet in Dawson in the near future.

STATESBORO
IN THE HEART OF A GREAT SECTION
"WHERE NATURE
SMILES"

Bulloch Times, Established 1892
Statesboro News, Established 1891
Statesboro Eagle, Established 1917—Consolidated December 9, 1920.

SIGNS OF DEVELOPMENT
GIVE HOPEFUL PROMISE

NEW SPIRIT PREVAILS IN MANY WAYS THROUGHOUT ENTIRE STATE OF GEORGIA.

(D. G. Bickers, in Morning News.)

We have talked much of the nature resources of South Georgia. They are abundant and varied and warrant much boasting; we have spoken much of the great constructive development this section is undergoing and immediately further to realize. For all these wonderful progresses of this section there is a short while, a thing next to impossible. Mrs. C. P. Oliff was to select the best looking lady present and promenade, the honor falling upon Mrs. Joe Rackley. Others were given similar stunts. At the roll call verses were given from the Bible pertaining to work or the work of their husbands. Those unable to respond were asked to give one dollar to the society. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. W. H. Sharpe sang "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star," accompanied by Mrs. S. Edwin Groover at the piano. A dainty salad course was served by the hostesses, who comprised the ladies of Savannah avenue. Artificial sweet peas were the favors. Miss Inez Williams was appointed delegate to the South Georgia Missionary conference to meet in Dawson in the near future.

That incident is evidence of a process of political evolution which is good for the section. Drafting men for such offices is the proper method of selection; uniting in a community co-operation to pick out a real "representative" is a sign that the political character of the people is changing—with an arousing civic conscience. "Evolution" is right, rather than "revolution." This is development, progress, growth in one good direction.

Another, quite a different item appears the same day in the Statesboro paper, the Bulloch Times, a card from William James, the principal of the colored school:

"One of the happiest events that has happened in the history of our school in the new building, occurred Tuesday morning when a delegation of white ladies, Mrs. S. H. Lichtenstein, Mrs. J. E. McGowan, Mrs. E. H. Kennedy, Mrs. O. W. Horne and Mrs. H. P. Jones, representing the Statesboro Woman's Club, brought all kinds of cooking utensils to be used in the domestic science department of our school. My recent illness prevented me from being present to witness the event, but this morning I was helped over and examined every piece and noted the donors and found in addition they had left a contribution of $5.00 to be paid on a stove. I have also been assured that other gifts for this department are forthcoming. In fact, since the burning of our school every white person that we have asked has contributed liberally towards its rebuilding."

And there is evidence of what has been a quality in the real South for ages, but which has not been known to many outside sections—the proper attitude of the races. That item speaks progress and advancement and growth—too!

In other ways than material, industrial and agricultural, commercial and constructive ways, is South Georgia changing and—developing.

AGED WOMAN DIES FROM INJURIES IN FLAMES

Mrs. Emma Alderman, aged 81, died Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Smith, five miles west from Statesboro, as a result of injuries sustained when her clothing caught fire and was almost burned off a week before as she was sitting before the fire.

Interment was at the family burial ground Tuesday afternoon, and was directed by Statesboro Undertaking Company. Deceased was the widow of the late Mitchell Alderman and was the mother of Mrs. Joshua Smith with whom she lived.

Let's hope that no Georgia community will draw a blank in this great record of patriotic service! The coin quotas were allotted according to population and bank deposits and were very low; yet, strange to relate, some few communities have purchased no coins at all. It is earnestly hoped that every patriotic citizen will lend their assistance to this effort to write a 100 per cent record of achievement for the Georgia community in the sale of State Memorial coins.

STATSBORO, GA., THURSDAY, FEB. 11, 1926.

VOL. 34—NO. 46

COUNTY AGENT JOSEY
DISCUSSES COTTON CROP

Having had a number of inquiries about cotton seed for planting, I am prompted to make some recommendations concerning varieties, etc. As I see it, there are two varieties of cotton planted in the county. Why not standardize on one or two varieties, thus enabling us to keep our seed pure, and at the same time work up a seed business of our own? This could be easily done on a community scale, as a number of communities in various counties are doing.

As to varieties, where the land is not affected with wilt, I do not hesitate to recommend Wannamaker-Cleveland above all other varieties. It is easily the best all-around cotton that I have ever grown or seen. I am taking orders for every farmer to buy a few bushels of pure seed from a reliable breeder each year. In this way he can keep his seed pure without a great cost.

Those wanting to pool orders with the county agent for seed of the above varieties, will see him as early as possible.

E. P. JOSEY, County Agent.

MEMORIAL COIN SALE
CONTINUED TO MARCH 17

Monroe, Ga., Feb. 8, 1926.—The Harvest Campaign for the sale of Stone Mountain Memorial Coins in 23 counties closed at midnight January 23rd. In order to allow every community full opportunity to make a 100 per cent record in this great patriotic endeavor, the sale of coins will continue until midnight of March 17th under the title of "The Last Call Campaign."

Many Georgia towns and cities exceeded their quotas and in numerous instances interest and enthusiasm ran high during the closing days of the campaign. But in some communities the work was begun too late to achieve the fullest measure of success, while in others no organized effort was made to attain it.

Those towns which did not sell their quotas of Memorial coins and those which did not dispose of their special numbered coins will have the opportunity of doing so during "The Last Call Campaign," and several of them have already confidently undertaken the effort.

There has been designated to each Georgia city and town a special numbered Memorial coin sale, with the list of the state stamped thereon. The fact that there is no other coin in existence bearing the same number gives it a special significance and makes it a memento to be highly prized. These special coins are being disposed of either at auction or by subscription and are bringing from $10 to $100 each.

In Memorial Hall will be placed a book of records in which will be written the accomplishments of every Georgia town in the coin sale campaign. A page will be devoted to each place, recording its name, the name of its coin sale chairman, the number of coins allotted and the number sold, the number of the town's special coin, the price paid for it, and the name of the purchaser.

This record will remain intact for centuries, preserving a story of success or failure, and furnishing an interesting reference for generations yet to come.

Let's hope that no Georgia community will draw a blank in this great record of patriotic service! The coin quotas were allotted according to population and bank deposits and were very low; yet, strange to relate, some few communities have purchased no coins at all. It is earnestly hoped that every patriotic citizen will lend their assistance to this effort to write a 100 per cent record of achievement for the Georgia community in the sale of State Memorial coins.

Under a new plan of organization, the public is invited to join with the physicians of Bulloch county in the ownership and operation of the Statesboro sanitarium.

For many years this institution has been the property of Dr. E. E. Floyd, and the responsibility of its operation has fallen entirely upon him. Later he has been assisted by his son, Dr. Waldo Floyd, who has taken a large part of the management during the past two years. The institution has always been recognized as a public necessity, and has been open to the people from this entire section. Practically every physician in the county has from time to time had his patients brought there for treatment, and as such it has been a convenience to the entire public.

At a recent meeting of the physicians of the county, it was decided to accept the offer of Dr. Floyd for its sale, and each of the eighteen physicians subscribed to the stock. The stock company is being formed with a capital stock of $15,000. Some like two-thirds of this amount is to be offered to the public in small amounts. There are a number of business men who are ready to take up the remainder of the stock, but the physicians feel that it would make it more serviceable to the public if the stock was publicly owned. It is for this reason that the remainder of the stock is to be first offered in small amounts.

Dr. Waldo Floyd will, for the present, be in charge of the re-organization plan. As soon as the entire stock has been subscribed for, a meeting will be held and an organization perfected. It is expected to do this within the next three weeks.

Perhaps not a loss of approximately $10,000 to the company. Included in the loss was one locomotive and one passenger coach entirely destroyed, besides three other coaches and three engines on the side track considerably damaged.

The origin of the fire was not ascertained. The watchman, a colored man, had left the premises a few minutes before, first, he declares, having extinguished all fires. It was around midnight when the blaze occurred.

RAILROAD SHOPS BURN
WITH LOSS OF $10,000

The machine shops of the Savannah & Statesboro railroad were destroyed by fire Friday night of last week, not a loss of approximately $10,000 to the company. Included in the loss was one locomotive and one passenger coach entirely destroyed, besides three other coaches and three engines on the side track considerably damaged.

The origin of the fire was not ascertained. The watchman, a colored man, had left the premises a few minutes before, first, he declares, having extinguished all fires. It was around midnight when the blaze occurred.

Condemned to Be Electrocuted

"Tex," the one-hundred-and-two-year-old elephant owned by Charles Newton, was electrocuted at Ada, Okla. The elephant has killed nine men since Newton purchased him ten years ago. After a recent dinner in Little Rock, Ark., Newton decided to get rid of the animal, but no zoo or circus wanted him. Because of his temperamental monster is kept in chains, and despite this handicap he frequently bowls over his keeper and runs at large.

POLITICAL DIFFERENCES
ENTER ROAD WRANGLE

MAIN ISSUE OF STATE'S BETTERMENT LOST SIGHT OF IN DISCUSSION OF BONDS.

Waycross, Feb. 8.—In an address delivered before the Waycross Kiwanis club, Colonel John W. Bennett, prominent local attorney and former U. S. district attorney, charged that politics was fast destroying the development of the highway system of the state.

"We must wake up," the speaker stated, "to the fact that the program for paving the highways of Georgia is being destroyed by politics."

"The Atlanta Journal has lined up strongly against bonds and seems to be trying to frighten the people of Georgia into voting against bonds by citing expenditures and debts in North Carolina and other states."

"It is disgusting to constructive Georgians to note the renewal of the feud between the Atlanta Constitution and the Atlanta Journal. This is a time for hurrying out private differences and long-existing animosities. Both papers should forget this quarrel and work for better highways."

"We all know that it now appears that some men in Georgia are playing politics with the future of the highway issue, hoping that by creating political issue out of highway bonds and the extra session of the legislature they may work out a platform on which to run for governor."

"It is alarming to see politics taking charge. I have been in politics and I know what a big danger confronts the people of Georgia if their highways become a football for private political ambitions."

"We need in Georgia a big man, one big enough to come out for paved highways regardless of the effect that advocacy will have on his own political ambitions."

"But the danger is upon us and unless we can thwart some men in Georgia and some influences in Georgia that care more about their own future than the future of the highway, we may not get these highways paved in time to be of the greatest service to the state."

"As citizens of Georgia we must be willing to make a personal sacrifice to have the state highways. This is not only a needed improvement but an urgently needed improvement for Georgia."

WATERMELON GROWERS
TO DISCUSS MARKETING

A meeting of the watermelon growers of Bulloch county is called to be held in the court house on Monday, March 1st, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of taking such steps as are deemed suitable looking toward the handling of the watermelon crop for the coming season.

The leaders in the movement for the meeting have let it be understood that they hope to devise plans which will insure more prompt settlement for watermelons after they have been marketed. It is said that there is considerable dissatisfaction with past methods, and many growers are determined to break away from the old system and adopt some plan that will insure more prompt service. One gentleman discussing the matter says that growers complain that, in recent years they have been held out of their money until the season was closed, and in many instances have never received payment for melons shipped. It is this condition which is interesting the growers. The meeting will be held on the first Monday in March, and endeavor to solve the problem of marketing in a more satisfactory way if possible.

POULTRY SPECIALIST TO MAKE MONTHLY VISIT

F. E. Mitchell, poultry specialist, will make his regular monthly visit to the county on Friday and Saturday, February 12th and 13th.

In addition to his appointments at various places over the county, there will be a county-wide meeting of poultrymen at the court house on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 13, at 2:30 o'clock. The purpose of this meeting is to organize, if possible, a county poultry association. The poultry industry in Bulloch has reached the point that an association of the poultrymen will be of great value. It is hoped that every man and woman in the county who is raising poultry on a commercial basis will attend this meeting.

Mitchell's appointments over the county are as follows:

Friday, Feb. 12th—9:30 a. m., J. H. Bradley's place, Leefield; 11:00 a. m., P. F. Groover's, 3 miles east of Statesboro; 2:00 p. m., Emory Lane's place; 8:00 p. m., M. W. Turner's.

Saturday, Feb. 13th—9:30 a. m., R. G. Riggs', Registry; 11:00 a. m., Jno. R. Godbee's, Registry; 2:30 p. m., at court house, Statesboro.

The care and feeding of baby chicks will be the main topic for discussion. Those who want information along this, or any other line, will please meet Mr. Mitchell at one of the above places.

E. P. JOSEY, County Agent.

JOYNER'S HEN STAGES
AN EGG-LAYING CONTEST

One of the hens on C. B. Joyner's farm has inaugurated an egg-laying contest on her own initiative, and so far she is leading the class. The contest is not so much for numbers as for size, and the record established by this hen was presented at the Times office Saturday when Mr. Joyner brought her biggest egg. It measured 8 inches around the long end and weighed 4 ounces. This means four of this hen's eggs would weigh a pound. Compare this with the average of 12 eggs to the pound, and observe that this hen has produced an egg three times as large as the average.

One thing our country needs is more hens like Mr. Joyner's. If any of our friends have hens they desire to place in the contest, let them make the normal entry and bring the eggs to the Times office, where every contest will be held. No aged and decrepit eggs will be accepted in the contest.

APPEAR IN STATESBORO

Announcement is authorized that the Mercer Players, from Mercer University, will appear in Statesboro at the High School auditorium, on the evening of Friday, February 19th, at 8 o'clock. An admission price of 50 cents and $1.00 will be charged.

On Friday, the 12th inst., Nevils will be host of the Middlegrove tennis, at which time the teams will meet for their second contest. Middlegrove is promising a hard game, but Nevils is looking forward to adding two more victories to her growing record for 1926.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
TO HOLD LADIES' NIGHT

ANNUAL CELEBRATION HAS BEEN SET FOR THE EVENING OF FEBRUARY 26TH.

The annual ladies' night of the Statesboro Chamber of Commerce will be held on the evening of Friday, February 26th.

Plans for the evening's entertainment have not been announced, but President McDougald and Secretary Donaldson announce that the program for the evening will be up to the standard of the past for lightness and enjoyment.

In the past, the ladies' night has been the big occasion of the year. It is a time when business is laid aside and fun and frolic are turned loose. It is the time when every member attends and brings his wife, his daughter, or his lady friend. Thus it comes that the attendance of ladies' night goes far beyond any other occasion. Last year there was an attendance of approximately 160. At that time there was a membership of 50 members in the organization. Today there are nearly 200 members in the Chamber of Commerce.

On the same ratio there could easily be an attendance of 400 on ladies' night. They will be there, of course, and in the attendance will be many new members who decide to attend. Portal has contributed 50-odd members to the organization, and Register has added half a dozen or more. These new members will be present with their ladies.

The exact plans for the meeting has not been decided upon yet. The problem is to find a place which can comfortably seat 400 persons at a meal, for the meal is the most important part of the evening.

Secretary Donaldson is preparing to issue formal notices to the members, and he will require prompt notice of acceptance or rejection of the invitation. He will need to know how many persons to provide for at the meal. When you get your card from him, answer it promptly. Don't wait until he has made his plans without you and then decide to attend. Indeed, it would be an advantage to him to see him in person and give him advance information as to your intentions; but, anyway, send him a reply when he writes you on the subject.

NEVILS AGAIN SCORES
DOUBLE VICTORY AT BALL

This time Daisy was the victim. Friday, February 5th, Nevils visited Daisy and there demonstrated her wares.

In the first game of the afternoon the Nevils girls defeated the Daisy girls by a score of 36-11. It was a hard-fought game, but Daisy was outclassed. The Nevils girls played a six-star game with particularly brilliant work on the part of the guards, however the certainty of aim and team work of the forwards, Deland and NeSmith, was the outstanding feature of the game. The Daisy girls put up a game fight but they were outwitted, outmaneuvered, and outplayed by the fast and heavy Nevils team.

The second game of the afternoon was the game that held the attention and interest of the fans throughout. By special request, Nevils carried a "midnight" team, which was matched with the "daytime" team by Daisy, both teams averaging about one hundred pounds to the player. Beginning with the first "tip-off" and lasting till the final sounding of the timer's whistle, both teams fought one of the hardest and most determined battles in the history of the Statesboro basketball. The teams were evenly matched and it was not until the last whistle had sounded that anyone knew who would be the victor. The score by quarters was 6-7, 11-12, 16-17, and 19-22, Nevils having the very slight lead of one point at the end of each quarter except the last, when she ran up a three-point lead.

On Friday, the 12th inst., Nevils will be host of the Middlegrove tennis, at which time the teams will meet for their second contest. Middlegrove is promising a hard game, but Nevils is looking forward to adding two more victories to her growing record for 1926.

Dirty Spectacles

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

"THE trouble with you, Willie,"
Anna Irving said to Willie Withers in "My Lady of the Chimney Corner," "you see people through dirty speces. Each poor creature is made up of some good and much that isn't so good, and you see only what isn't so good."

Willie was an ignorant peasant who had the mistaken idea that people are only what they seem, that it showed keenness and discrimination on his part to discover weaknesses and frailties and imperfections in those whom he met. He had the idea, too, as many people less ignorant and more experienced than he have had, that when he saw evil in others this same evil magnified the good which he found in himself. He excused his own errors by finding faults in his friends.

It is a common fault this looking through dirty spectacles, this seeing only the wicked and the unwholesome things in the world.

"I had a letter today from a man of experience and education. It was full of statements and statistics to prove that the world is rapidly going to the bad, that young people today are without principles, are devoid of character, will not take responsibility, and given only to the gratification of their physical desires; that crime and drunkenness and dissipation in general are rapidly and hopelessly increasing. He sees no good in the rising generation because he is looking at them through dirty spectacles. Statistics can be marshaled to prove anything, and yet I cannot be made to believe that this world of ours is so completely bad.

I have always been interested in Mrs. Fallon. She has a wide circle of acquaintances, she sees a good deal of society. She is herself a part of many social affairs, and yet I have never heard her unreservedly commend anything. The luncheon she attended may have been over so carefully arranged and served, there was always something at fault. The salad was not properly chilled, the coffee was weak, the pastry was not to her taste. If she listened to a musical program she could always detect false notes or bad technique or she technically would find fault. The speaker the selections not well made. Nothing in her eyes was perfect and no body. She looked on her little world through clouded spectacles. The world was able to see the "some good" in the creatures about her, but always magnified the "much that isn't so good."

Charles Lamb tells us somewhere in his essays that if we knew people well enough we should find in each one something that would win our love and our respect. So Willie Withers found
He came to see that even the wickedest man of the street whom everyone shunned as they would have shunned leper, whose hand he would not have touched had he been in her something human, something good, something even, which he did not look at her through dirty spectacles.
